From the Editor's Desk

It is February. Valentines day is just around the corner and the new year is well under way.

2009 closed out reasonably well. For me, at least, there were a number of significant firsts. It was also a hard year in many respects but I have come through it as we all have.

Our newsletter snippets version is also up and running so people can see that TUG is alive and well. The will do well to draw interest in our group. Still, there is much we need to do, besides our Monday night outings. Elsewhere in this edition I have posted an article which is a blatant request for member participation in the newsletter. We need articles, relevant stories, experiences, and so on. Of course, we've always needed these things and we will need them ongoing.

So as not to sound like a broken record let me close this by wishing you all a

HAPPY VALENTINES DAY !

A guy walks into the local welfare office, marches straight up to the counter and says, "Hi... You know, I just HATE drawing welfare. I'd really rather have a job."

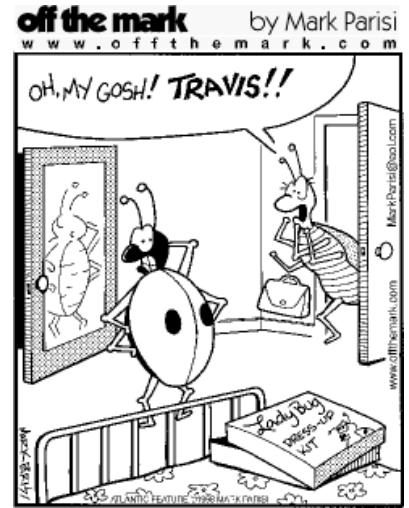

The social worker behind the counter says, "Your timing is excellent. We just got a job opening from a very wealthy old man who wants a chauffeur/bodyguard for his nymphomaniac daughter.

You'll have to drive around in his Mercedes, but he'll supply all of your clothes. Because of the long hours, meals will be provided. You'll be expected to escort her on her overseas holiday trips. You will have to satisfy her sexual urges.

You'll have a two-bedroom apartment above the garage. The starting salary is $200,000 a year".

The guy says, "You're bullshittin' me!"

The social worker says, "Yeah, well, you started it".

Give us a sense of humor, Lord.
Give us the grace to see a joke,
to get some humor out of life,
and pass it on to other folk.

I accompanied one of my congregants to court to settle some legal affairs. As I waited, a man took note of my clerical collar. "So," he said, "prayer didn't help you either, huh?"

Lawyer: Do you know when that meeting occurred?

Witness: The March 9 meeting?

Lawyer: Yes

Witness: March 9.
